PRESIDENT'S WEDDING WAS QUIET AND SIMPLE

Thirty Guests Present at Ceremony.
Was Plain Home Wedding Unmarked by Ostentation. Couple Will Spend Honeymoon in Virginia.

Washington, Dec. 18.—President Wilson and Mrs. Edith Bolling Galt were married at 8:30 o'clock tonight and left afterward to spend their honeymoon at Hot Springs, Virginia. The President and his bride traveled in a private car attached to a special train, which is due to arrive in Hot Springs tomorrow at 8:15 a. m.

Shortly after 10 o'clock the President and Mrs. Wilson entered a waiting White House automobile and motored to Alexandria, Va., across the Potomac to take their private car there and avoid a crowd at the railroad station in this city. The ruse by which the wedding party got away to Alexandria was complete. When the White House automobile pulled away from Mrs. Wilson's house, lines of police blocked pursuit in all the adjoining streets. At the union station the presidential entrance was fully lighted and lines of police were spread all about. Those who were attracted to the railroad station by the show of preparation were disappointed while the President and Mrs. Wilson were speeding to the station across the river, ten miles away.

At Hot Springs Mr. and Mrs.

Wilson will live at the Homestead Hotel until after New Year's Day, unless some development should necessitate the President's earlier return to the capital. Two of the White House automobiles have been sent on ahead and the couple expect to spend their honeymoon motoring, golfing and walking over the mountain trails. Beside the secret service guard, the party was accompanied by one stenographer. The President will keep in touch with the White House over special wires.

Because the hour of the wedding was known to comparatively few persons, there was not a large crowd in the vicinity of the bride's home although a large police guard had been provided.

All arrangements for the wedding ceremony were carried out perfectly. The President arriving at his bride's home soon after 8 o'clock and the remainder of the wedding party, which numbered less than thirty, following soon after. The ceremony was begun as had been arranged at 8:30 o'clock and was followed by a buffet luncheon.

Mrs. Wilson was married in the traveling gown she wore to the train.

rendered valuable assistance to her country was demonstrated by the enthusiastic praise which has been accorded by prominent government officials and other well known figures.

Just before boarding her car Miss Held said: "I can hardly wait until I get to the studios. I have heard so much about these wonderful motion pictures, and have seen such marvelous things on the screen that now it really surprises me when I think that I have kept away from this new field so long. I have brought over a collection of new gowns which I will wear in the motion picture and which represent an outlay of a fortune. Besides my new gowns I have brought over a Russian sable coat which will help to make my first film a regular fashion bazaar. In addition to everything else, as these clothes which I have brought to this country cannot be duplicated here and are just fresh from my modiste in Paris. It is no difficult matter to understand why Miss Held can afford a queen's wardrobe when one considers her income. For one motion picture Oliver Morosco will pay her $25,000. This it is expected will be released on the Paramount Program early in February.

Anna Held Leaves for Film Studios

Celebrated French Comedienne
Makes Her Eyes Shave Long Enough to Battle Reporters as to Rumored Engagement

With a farewell kiss directed toward Broadway, motion picture and newspaper photographers snapping her picture, and a host of friends bidding her goodbye, Anna Held boarded her special car attached to the Twentieth Century Limited at the Grand Central, New York, and bound for Los Angeles, where the French comedienne will make her motion picture debut at the Morosco Paramount studios.

On entering her limousine which was to rush her to the Grand Central, Miss Held was confronted by several persistent newspaper reporters who tried to secure a confession of her reported engagement to a Russian prince. The star cleverly avoided all direct replies to the many questions put to her by the newspaper men and blandly smiled at the determined efforts of her interviewers. The story, which Miss Held neither denied nor affirmed, involves a nobleman who met the star on board the steamer St. Louis during her trip to this country several weeks ago. Since arriving in this country it is stated that the actress and the Russian have been seen together frequently. The Russian had business with his government's consul here, and it is confidently expected that an announcement of marriage will be forthcoming when Miss Held reaches Los Angeles.

The famous star did not seem any the worse for her vigorous activities on the battle front in France since the beginning of the war. That she a large measure to the military feature.

Third, the lessons in attendance and concentration and the inculcation of the ability both to obey and command are splendid results of the military feature.

There are other considerations too. The adolescent boy, as everyone that comes in contact with youth knows, requires some outlet of a physical nature and the military training gives this in satisfying measure. The training is admirable. It cannot be emphasized too strongly that the boy is not taught to fight. Preparedness of a military nature is not in the back of his head. He is instructed neither for nor against war. But if the occasion ever arises, the boys trained in the Sumter schools will be prepared to shoulder muskets.

The fifteen years experience in the Sumter schools shows that boys can be trained for the military without the sinister motive of war.—American Review of Reviews.

War Studies of the German Youth

The exposition at Berlin known as School and the War, is most instructive as showing the influence which the war, having wrought such modifications in the thinking and feeling of nations, is exerting in more ways than one on the education of the rising generation. At this exposition one may follow in detail the manifold changes made by war in the curricula of German and Austro-Hungarian schools. Some of these changes, it is true, may have developed spontaneously as a result of circumstances; others are the outcome of consistent planning.

Geography, for instance, a dry as dust subject to most pupils, may be wonderfully enlivened by reference to the events of the day. And how many pupils, once decidedly averse to mathematics, have developed a sudden liking for that subject since the discussion of problems in surveying, distance estimation and so forth forms an important part of the instruction! In physics much attention

Military Training in Sumpter Schools

The system has been given a thorough test and at the end of the fifteen years the superintendent of the schools and the people of Sumter and the students themselves believe the idea a good one and that the practical results have proved the military feature beneficial in several ways:

First, the boys themselves are more enthusiastic now than the first little band of nineteen were fifteen years ago when they came to him and asked him to organize a military company for drill. The boys wish the system to remain in the schools and they prove this by their interest.

Second, the Sumter schools have the United States record for holding a large percentage of boys in the high school. This is attributed in county this year is now assured. The old team that won the county championship in 1913 have again organized and are practicing every night. On Friday evening last they played the fast South Cache team in Hyrum and with only four nights of practice were able to defeat that team by a score of 18 to 17. The game was fast throughout and was anybody's until the last few moments of play when Wellsville with its usual whirlwind finish put in the winning basket. These same two teams will play again in the Wellsville pavilion on Wednesday December 22 and it promises to be one of the best and most hotly contested games of the year. Wellsville is now ready to take on any of the county teams and any teams wanting games will please communicate with Mr. Irvine Maughan, captain of the team.
